Abstract

Please replace the abstract with new abstract below:

A method of synthesizing a speech signal by providing a first speech unit signal having an end interval and a second speech unit signal having a front interval, wherein at least some of the periods of the end interval are appended in inverted order at the end of the first speech unit signal in order to provide a fade-out interval, and at least some of the periods of the front interval are appended in inverted order at the beginning of the second speech unit signal to provide a fade-in interval. An overlap and add operation is performed on the end and fade-in intervals and the fade-out and front intervals.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1-14 are allowed.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

As per independent claims 1, 13, and 14, there is no prior art reference, alone or in combination, that specifically teaches or suggests the limitations of "appending of at least some of the periods of the end interval in inverted order at the end of the first speech unit signal to provide a fade-out interval," and "appending of at least some of the periods of the front interval in inverted order at the beginning of the second speech unit signal to provide a fade-in interval."

Dependent claims 2-12 are allowed because they further limit their parent claims.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
